PROFILE

Experienced in creating and maintaining high-performance, optimised, scalable and accessible websites in the public sector. I'm a highly self-motivated problem solver who develops and evolves designs by working with HTML, Sass, PHP, JavaScript and WordPress.

I have an obsessive attention to detail when it comes to writing clean, efficient code with experience in component-based development, knowledge and practical experience of responsive design techniques and experience in version control via Git/Github.

In addition, I've obtained experience and skills in working with WordPress for use as a CMS, Command Line Interface, familiarity with bespoke WordPress theme development, AGILE methodologies and working in development sprints as part of a team.
